

Solar Billing Plan

2025 Energy Export Credit (EEC) Values – 2025 Interconnection Application Year

Understanding Your Energy Export Credit Pricing

As a Solar Billing Plan customer, you will receive Energy Export Credits (EEC) for excess energy your solar system sends to the electric grid. The value¹ of your credits will vary by time of day, weekday or weekend and month.

The EEC values chart for the year you submitted your interconnection application shows how the compensation you will receive varies by time of day, month and Energy Produced² and Delivered.

¹ Pricing reflects the average EEC values determined by the California Public Utilities Commission. Hours and values have also been adjusted to account for daylight savings time when appropriate ²Energy Produced credits are only applicable to Solar Billing Plan customers who receive bundled generation service from PG&E. Customers who receive generation service from a Community Choice Aggregator (CCA) or a Direct Access (DA) provider should refer to their provider for more information about the generation export pricing available to them.
